- The faculties should repeat when and where necessary, whatever has been taught last semester/last year (as per the syllabus), rather than saying this has been done already. It will help a lot more, considering we spent 2 years online and the understanding of concepts wasn't up to the mark.

Self Case Study and Market Survey become only data collection, since we do not understand if things have been done right or wrong. Also we do not understand what and how to look at things during case studies, hence a faculty accompanying would help better.
