'Pratyasha'

Celebrating 50 years of enactment of the 'The Architects' Act' (1972-2022)

The Council of Architecture (CoA), the apex body regulating the education and profession of Architecture in India, was constituted by the Government of India under the provisions of the Architects Act, 1972, enacted by the Parliament of India, which came into force on 1st September, 1972. CoA completed 50 years on 1st September 2022 and will now celebrate this day as the 'Indian Architects Day'.

Architectural profession has undergone a drastic and rapid change since the Architects Act was enacted in 1972. The exponential increase in population, indiscriminate building activity and degradation of ecosystems are felt severely all over the globe. The governments all over are responding to climate change and other challenges in various ways. The time bound Sustainable Development Goals of the United Nations are some of the ongoing global initiatives. In India, several projects have been initiated to make our rural, semi-rural and urban areas more sustainable and liveable with the involvement of all stakeholders of the built environment. The scale of the projects and their inter-disciplinary nature implies a need for a change in the role of an Architect to become more collaborative and expand to occupy higher managerial positions in projects.

Council of Architecture therefore, celebrates 50 years of the enactment of the Architects Act 1972-2022 as 'Pratyasha'. 'Pratyasha' is a Sanskrit word, combining 'Prati' and 'Asha' which symbolizes Future Prospects, Hopes for a Better Future, Anticipation, Promise, Outlook The vision behind this initiative is to not only streamline and provide a definitive road map to our fraternity but facilitate uniformity of standards of architectural practise across the country. Apart from this there is an attempt to hold hands of our young brethren and in the process change architectural profession for a brighter and respectable future.

'Pratyasha' on 6th November 2022 from 8.30 am onward at Stein Auditorium, India Habitat Centre, Lodhi Road, New Delhi, promises to be an exciting day with intense deliberations on the changing role of the architect in India and the possible way forward through five interesting sessions:

1. Council of Architecture - The way ahead

Present and past Presidents of Council of Architecture will share with us the journey of CoA and the initiatives undertaken for a smooth way forward.

2. Future of Architectural Practice in India

Senior architects will speak about guidelines for architectural practice, reaching a potential client, guidelines for engagement of architects and code for architectural competitions among other topics.

3. COA and Legalities

Legal issues pertaining to Council, the history of Court Judgements and legal implications of use of software for practice in architecture will be deliberated upon.

4. Services Export Promotion Council (SEPC) and COA

This session will explore the possibility of collaboration between the Services Export Promotion Council (SEPC) and COA to export architectural services.

5. Architects and their Aspirations: Young architects in Practice

Young architects will deliberate upon the issues faced by them, their expectations and ways to develop capacity to face the challenges of the profession.

The day long discussions culminate with the inauguration of two prestigious orations viz.

- 1. Late Ar. Piloo Modi Memorial Oration by Dr. BV Doshi.
- 2. Late Ar. J. R. Bhalla Memorial Oration by Prof. Neelkanth Chhaya.

The program will also be streamed live on COA Social to reach out and include the entire fraternity.

Abstract:

With the increased rate of expansion of urbanization and urban sprawl in the recent years, the environmental issues faced by urban places become ever more concerning. The heat island effect has precarious effects on the environment as well as on the dwellers. Urban heat Island effect, which is generally caused due to the replacement of natural land cover with dense concentrations, the research paper will help in understanding whether and how architecture plays a role in mitigating the heat island effect. Architecture has a definite role to play in the mitigation of the urban heat island effect: cities are defined by their buildings and make up a large part of the built environment. The choices that architects and planners make can have a huge impact on the size of a city's urban heat island (Munro, 2012). Questions of sustainability and environmental consequences pervade most aspects of our lives. In architectural practice, they influence our building regulations and our energy codes (Thomas, 2015). The research paper is an attempt to review various cases across the world where architecture – both buildings and spaces affect a city's urban heat and also review the factors that help to develop resilient architecture in the context of climate change.
